SOMETHING ABOUT YOURSELF.

Supposing your age to be fifteen years, or thereabouts, you can be figured up to a dot. You have 160 bones and 500 muscles, your blood weighs 25 lbs, your heart is nearly five inches in length and three inches in diameter, beats 70 times per minute, 4,200 times per hour, 100,800 times per day, and 36,722,200 times per year. At each beat a little over two ounces of blood is thrown out of it, and each day it receives and discharges about seven tons of that wonderful fluid. Your lungs will contain a gallon of air, and you inhale 24,000 gallons per day. The aggregate surface of the air cells of your lungs, supposing them to be spread out, exceeds 20,000 square inches. The weight of your brain is three pounds; when you are a man it will weigh about eight ounces more. Your nerves exceeds 10,000,000.

Your skin is composed of three layers, and varies from one eighth to one fourth of an inch in thickness. The area of your skin is about 1,700 square inches, and you are subjected to an atmospheric pressure of fifteen pounds to the square inch. Each square inch of your skin contains 3,500 sweating tubes, or perspiratory pores each of which may be likened to a little drain tile one fourth of an inch long, making an aggregate length in the entire surface of your body of 201,163 feet, or a tile ditch for draining the body almost forty miles long.

WE receive many letters from correspondents who are worthy of trust, reflecting on some peculiarities in the personal habits of B. Gratz Brown, the candidate for vice president. We have thus far suppressed these letters, but if the facts they disclose are true these facts ought to be brought before the public. The nation does not want to see a man habitually intemperate in the President's chair. His recent illness is ascribed to his own imprudence, and it is said that the complaint known as the "Gratz Brown Gripes" is well known in the bar rooms of the city. At Cincinnati he was said to be often seen in a condition not very becoming to a candidate for high office. Perhaps Horace Greeley had better take him in hand, and get him to confine himself for a few weeks to the use of Chappaqua water. —New York Times, July 17.

A CURIOUS and perhaps important discovery has been made recently by M. Kletzinsky, a Viennese Professor. Noticing that persons sick with the small pox were often visited by flies, he placed near an open window of the hospital a saucer filled with glycerine. Soon the flies gathered, and were caught like birds with glue. In their endeavors to free themselves, all the foreign matter which had adhered to them was left in the glycerine, which was at once submitted to the action of a microscope.— It was found that this substance which was chemically pure when offered to the flies, was full of strange cells, very like those seen on persons attacked by the small pox, but never on flies. This discovery proves conclusively that these parasitical insects are not only filthy, but can be very dangerous means of spreading contagious diseases.

A NEW English charge d'affaires was lately presented to the Mikado of Japan. He was a very corpulent gentleman. Upon being desired to squat on the floor in Jap fashion, whether on account of his Falstaffian proportions, or because he considered it derogatory to a representative of "Her Most Gracious and Christian Majesty," is not known, but the fact was, that he utterly refused to do so. He finally left the presence with head erect and straight "on his pins," and no doubt immediately sat down to indite an indignant letter to Earl Granville. It is said the Japanese ambassador, Terashima, will not be received at the Court of St. James until this little difficulty is settled.

GERRIT SMITH AND THE DAVIS BAIL BOND.—Liberal and Democratic orators class Gerritt Smith with Greeley as one of the bailers of Jeff Davis. Speakers at the ratification meeting, on Tuesday evening, asserted this, and though the statement was disputed by gentlemen in the crowd, they persisted in asserting. These gentlemen find it convenient to have short memories.— Gerritt Smith's name does not appear upon the bond. Mr Greeley was the only Republican who signed the bond.—Toledo Blade.

THE PLATFORM

The Republican party of the United States, assembled in National Convention in the city of Philadelphia, on the 5th and 6th days of June, 1872, again declares its faith, appeals to its history, and announces its position upon the questions before the country.

1. During the eleven years of its supremacy it has accepted with grand courage the solemn duties of the time. It suppressed a gigantic rebellion, emancipated 4,000,000 slaves, decreed the equal citizenship of all and established universal suffrage, exhibiting unparalleled magnanimity. It criminally punished no man for political offense and warmly welcomed all who proved their loyalty by obeying the laws and dealing justly with their neighbors. It has steadily decreased with a firm hand the resultant disorders of the great war, and initiated a wise policy towards the Indians. The Pacific railroad and similar vast enterprises have been generally aided and successfully conducted. The public lands have been freely given to actual settlers, immigration protected and encouraged, and a full acknowledgment of naturalized citizens rights secured from European powers. A uniform national currency has been provided, repudiation frowned down, the national credit sustained under the most extraordinary burdens, and new bonds negotiated at lower rates. The revenues have been carefully collected and honestly applied, despite the annual large reductions of the rates of taxation the public debt has been reduced during Gen Grant's Presidency at the rate of one hundred millions of dollars a year, a great financial crisis has been averted, and peace and plenty prevail throughout the land.— Menacing foreign difficulties have been peacefully and honorably compromised, and the honor and power of the nation kept in high respect throughout the world. This glorious record of the past is the party's best pledge for the future. We believe the people will not intrust the government to any party or combination of men composed chiefly of those who have resisted every step of this beneficial progress.

2. Complete liberty and exact equality in the enjoyment of all civil, political and public rights should be established and effectually maintained throughout the Union by efficient and appropriate State and federal legislation. Neither the law nor its administration should admit of any discrimination in respect to any citizen by reason of race, creed, color or previous condition of servitude.

3. The recent amendments to the National Constitution should be cordially sustained, because they are right, not merely tolerated because they are the law, and should be carried out, according to their spirit, by appropriate legislation, the enforcement of which can be safely trusted only to the party that secured those amendments.

4. The national government should seek to maintain an honorable peace with all nations, protecting its citizens everywhere and sympathizing with all peoples who strive for greater liberty.

5. Any system of civil service under which the subordinate positions of the government are considered rewards for mere party zeal is fitly demoralizing, and we therefore favor a reform of the system by laws which shall abolish the evils of patronage, and make honesty, efficiency and fidelity essential qualifications for public position, without practically creating a life tenure of office.

6. We are opposed to the further grants of public lands to corporations and monopolies, and demand that the national domain be set apart for free homes for the people.

7. The annual revenues, after paying current debts, should furnish a moderate balance for the reduction of the principal, and the revenue, except so much as may be derived from a tax on tobacco and liquors, should be raised by duties on importations, the duties of which should be so adjusted as to aid in securing remunerative wages to labor, and promote the industries, growth and prosperity of the whole country.

8. We hold in undying honor the soldiers and sailors whose valor saved the Union. Their pensions are a sacred debt of the nation, and the widows and orphans of those who died for their country are entitled to the care of a generous and grateful people, and we favor such additional legislation as will extend the bounty of the government to all our soldiers and sailors who were honorably discharged, and who in the line of duty became disabled, without regard to the length of time or cause of such discharge.

9. The doctrine of Great Britain and other European powers, concerning allegiance, "once a subject, always a subject," having at last through the efforts of the Republican party, been abandoned, and the American idea of an individual's right to transfer his allegiance having been accepted by European nations, it is the duty of our government to guard with jealous care the rights of adopted citizens against the assumption of unauthorized claims by their former governments, and we urge continual and careful encouragement and protection to voluntary immigration.

10. The franking privilege ought to be abolished and the way prepared for a speedy reduction in the rates of postage.

11. Among the questions which press for attention is that which concerns the relations of capital and labor, and the Republican party recognize the duty of so shaping legislation as to secure full protection and the amplest field for capital, and for labor, the creator of capital, the largest opportunities, and a just share of the mutual profits of these two great servants of civilization.

12. We hold that Congress and the President have only fulfilled an imperative duty in their measures for the suppression of violent and treasonable organizations in certain lately rebellious regions, and for the protection of the ballot box, and therefore are entitled to the thanks of the nation.

13. We denounce the repudiation of the public debt, in any form or disguise, as a national crime, and we witness with pride the reduction of the principle of the debt and upon the rates of interest upon the balance, and we confidently expect that our excellent national currency will be perfected by the speedy resumption of specie payments.

14. The Republican party ... of its obligations to the loyal women of America for their noble devotion to the cause of freedom, and their admission to wider fields of usefulness is received with satisfaction, and the demands of any class of citizens for additional rights should be treated with respectful consideration.

15. We heartily approve the actions of Congress in extending amnesty to those lately in rebellion, and rejoice in the growth of peace and fraternal feeling throughout the land.

16. The Republican party propose to respect the rights reserved by the people themselves as carefully as the powers delegated by them to State and to federal government. It disapproves of a resort to unconstitutional laws for the purpose of removing evils by interference with rights not surrendered by the people to either the State or national government.

17. It is the duty of the general government to adopt such measures as will tend to encourage American commerce and ship building.

18. We believe that the modest patriotism, the earnest purpose, sound judgment, practical wisdom, incorruptible integrity and illustrious services of Ulysses S. Grant have commended him to the heart of the American people, and with him at our head we start to-day on a new march to victory.

To the Officers of the Germania, Hanover, Niagara and Republic Fire Ins. Co.'s of New York

GENTLEMEN: The course pursued by your Companies in the adjustment and payment of our own claims, and so far as we know, ALL claims for losses in the great fire in Chicago, has been so highly honorable, prompt and straightforward, and marked by such apparent desire to deal justly towards all parties, under all circumstances, that we desire voluntarily to acknowledge it to the business public. At each beat, a little over two ounces of blood is thrown out of it, and each day it receives and discharges about seven tons of that wonderful fluid. Your lungs will contain a gallon of air, and you inhale 24,000 gallons per day. The aggregate surface of the air cells of your lungs, supposing them to be spread out, exceeds 20,000 square inches. The weight of your brain is three pounds; when you are a man it will weigh about eight ounces more. Your nerves exceeds 10,000,000.

Your skin is composed of three layers, and varies from one-eighth to one-fourth of an inch in thickness. The area of your skin is about 1,700 square inches, and you are subjected to an atmospheric pressure of fifteen pounds to the square inch. Each square inch of your skin contains 3,500 sweating tubes, or perspiratory pores, each of which may be likened to a little drain tile one-fourth of an inch long, making an aggregate length in the entire surface of your body of 201,163 feet, or a tile ditch for draining the body almost forty miles long.

WE receive many letters from correspondents who are worthy of trust, reflecting on some peculiarities in the personal habits of B. Gratz Brown, the candidate for vice president. We have thus far suppressed these letters, but if the facts they disclose are true these facts ought to be brough before the public. The nation does not want to see a man habitually intemperate in the President's chair. His recent illness is ascribed to his own imprudence, and it is said that the complaint known as the "Gratz Brown Gripes" is well known in the bar rooms of the city. At Cincinnati he was said to be often seen in a condition not very becoming to a candidate for high office. Perhaps Horace Greeley had better take him in hand, and get him to confine himself for a few weeks to the use of Chappaqua water.—New York Times, July 17.

A CURIOUS and perhaps important discovery has been made recently by M. Kletzinsky, a Viennese Professor Noticing that persons sick with the small-pox were often visited by flies, he placed near an open window of the hospital a saucer filled with glycerine. Soon the flies gathered, and were caught like birds with glue. In their endeavors to free themselves, all the foreign matter which had adhered to them was left in the glycerine, which was at once submitted to the action of a microscope.—It was found that this substance which was chemically pure when offered to to the flies, was full of strange cells, very like those seen on persons attacked by the small-pox, but never on flies. This discovery proves conclusively that these parasitical insects are not only filthy, but can be very dangerous means of spreading contagious diseases.

A NEW English charge d'affaires was lately presented to the Mikado of Japan. He was a very corpulent gentleman. Upon being desired to squat on the floor in Jap. fashion, whether on account of his Falstaffian proportions, or because he considered it derogatory to a representative of "Her Most Gracious and Christian Majesty," is not known, but the fact was, that he utterly refused to do so. He finally left the presence with head erect and straight "on his pins," and no doubt immediately sat down to indite an indignant letter to Earl Granville. It is said the Japanese ambassador, Terashima, will not be received at the Court of St. James until this little difficulty is settled.

GERRITT SMITH AND THE DAVIS BAIL BOND.—Liberal and Democratic orators class Gerritt Smith with Greeley as one of the bailers of Jeff Davis. Speakers at the ratification meeting, on Tuesday evening, asserted this, and though the statement was disputed by gentlemen in the crowd, they persisted in asserting. These gentlemen find it convenient to have short memories.—Gerritt Smith's name does not appear upon the bond. Mr. Greeley was the only Republican who signed the bond — Toledo Blade.

The Louisville Ledger of the 13 inst. has at the top of the first page three immense engravings, representing Horace Greeley, Gratz Brown and P. T. Barnum all in a row. The former it denominates as the "Democratic candidates" for the Presidency and vice presidency, respectively, while Barnum is given in his own proper character as a showman. A glance at the pictures will convince that Barnum is altogether the best looking man of the trio. In the same issue the Ledger gives in its support to all three of these candidates

Life is hardly respectable if it has no generous task, duties or affections that constitute a necessity for existing. Every man's task is his life-preserver.—Emerson.

THE PLATFORM.

The following is the Platform adopted by the National Republican Convention at Philadelphia:

The Republican party of the United States, assembled in National Convention in the city of Philadelphia, on the 5th and 6th days of June, 1872, again declares its faith, appeals to its history, and announces its position upon the questions before the country.

1. During the eleven years of its supremacy it has accepted with grand courage the solemn duties of the time. It suppressed a gigantic rebellion, emancipated 4,000,000 slaves, decreed the equal citizenship of all and established universal suffrage, exhibiting unparalleled magnanimity. It criminally punished no man for political offense, and warmly welcomed all who proved their loyalty by obeying the laws and dealing justly with their neighbors. It has steadily decreased with a firm hand the resultant disorders of the great war, and indicated a wise policy towards the Indians. The Pacific railroad and similar vast enterprises have been generally aided and successfully conducted. The public lands have been freely given to actual settlers, immigration protected and encouraged, and a full acknowledgment of naturalized citizens' rights secured from European powers. A uniform national currency has been provided, repudiation frowned down, the national credit sustained under the most extraordinary burdens, and new bonds negotiated at lower rates. The revenues have been carefully collected and honestly applied; despite the annual large reductions of the rates of taxation, the public debt has been reduced during Gen. Grant's Presidency at the rate of one hundred millions of dollars a year; a great financial crisis has been averted, and peace and plenty prevail throughout the land.—Menacing foreign difficulties have been peacefully and honorably compromised, and the honor and power of the nation kept in high respect throughout the world. This glorious record of the past is the paryt's best pledge for the future. We believe the people will not intrust the government to any party or combination of men composed chiefly of those who have resisted every step of this beneficial progress.

2. Complete liberty and exact equality in the enjoyment of all civil, political and public rights should be established and effectually maintained throughout the Union by efficient and appropriate State and federal legislation. Neither the law nor its administration should admit of any discrimination in respect to any citizen by reason of race, creed, color or previous condition of servitude.

3. The recent amendments to the National Constitution should be cordially sustained, because they are right, not merely tolerated because they are the law, and should be carried out, according to their spirit, by appropriate legislation, the enforcement of which can be safely trusted only to the party that secured those amendments

4. The national government should seek to maintain an honorable peace with all nations, protecting its citizens everywhere, and sympathizing with all peoples who strive for greater liberty.

5. Any system of civil service under which the subordinate positions of the government are considered rewards for mere party zeal is fitly demoralizing, and we therefore favor a reform of the system by laws which shall abolish the evils of patronage, and make honesty, efficiency and fidelity essential qualifications for public position, without practically creating a life tenure of office

6. We are opposed to the further grants of public lands to corporation and monopolies, and demand that the national domain be set apart for free homes for the people.

7. The annual revenues, after paying current debts, should furnish a moderate balance for the reduction of the principal, and the revenue, except so much as may be derived from a tax on tobacco and liquors, should be raised by duties on importations, the duties of which should be so adjusted as to aid in securing remunerative wages to labor, and promote the industries, growth and prosperity of the whole country.

8. We hold in undying honor the soldiers and sailors whose valor saved the Union. Their pensions are a sacred debt of the nation, and the widows and orphans of those who died for their country are entitled to the care of a generous and grateful people, and we favor such additional legislation as will extend the bounty of the government to all our soldiers and sailors who were honorably discharged, and who in the line of duty became disabled, without regard to the length of time or cause of such discharge.

9. The doctrine of Great Britain and other European powers, concerning allegiance, "once a subject, always a subject," having at last through the efforts of the Republican party, been abandoned, and the American idea of an individuals's right to transfer his allegiance having been accepted by European nations, it is the duty of our government to guard with jealous care the rights of adopted citizens against the assumption of unauthorized claims by their former governments, and we urge continual and careful encouragement and protection to voluntary immigration.

10. The franking privilege ought to be abolished and the way prepared for a speedy reduction in the rates of postage

11. Among the questions which press for attention is that which concerns the relations of capital and labor, and the Republican party recognize the duty of so shaping legislation as to secure full protection and the amplest field for capital, and for labor, the creator of capital, the largest opportunities, and a just share of the mutual profits of these two great servants of civilization.

12. We hold that Congress and the President have only fulfilled an imperative duty in their measures for the suppression of violent and treasonable organizations in certain lately rebellious regions, and for the protection of the ballot box, and therefore are entitled to the thanks of the nation

13. We denounce the repudiation of the public debt, in any form or disguise, as a national crime, and we witness with pride the reduction of the principle of the debt and upon the rates of interest upon the balance, and we confidently expect that our excellent national currency will be perfected by the speedy resumption of specie payments.

14. The Republican party is mindful of its obligations to the loyal women of America for their noble devotion to the cause of freedom, and their admission to wider fields of usefulness is received with satisfaction; and the demands of any class of citizens for additional rights should be treated with respectful consideration.

15. We heartily approve the actions of Congress in extending amnesty to those lately in rebellion, and rejoice in the growth of peace and fraternal feeling throughout the land.

16. The Republican party propose to respect the rights reserved by the people themselves as carefully as the powers delegated by them to State and to federal government. It disapproves of a resort to unconstitutional laws for the purpose of removing evils by interference with rights not surrendered by the people to either the State or national government.

17. It is the duty of the general government to adopt such measures as will tend to encourage American commerce and ship building.

18. We believe that the modest patriotism, the earnest purpose, sound judgment, practical wisdom, incorruptible integrity and illustrious services of Ulysses S. Grant have commended him to the hearts of the American people, and with him at our head we start to day on a new march to victory.

"We are led by him who first taught our armies to conquer in the West, and subsequently in the East also. Richmond would not come to us till we sent Grant after it, and then it had to come. He has never yet been defeated, and he never will be."—HORACE GREELEY.

"We like General Grant; but we care far more for Republican ascendancy than for any man's personal fortunes. It is in our view of great importance that the opposition shall be kept out of power. For a Democratic national triumph means a restoration to power of those who deserted their seats in Congress and their places under the last Democratic President, to plunge the country into the Red Sea of secession and Rebellion. Though you paint an inch thick, to this complexion you must come at last. The brain, the heart, the soul of the present Democratic party is the rebel element of the South with its northern allies and sympathizers. It is rebel at the core to day."—HORACE GREELEY.

GRANT AND WILSON CLUBS

The ground swell of the approaching elections this fall is beginning to be felt, and the campaign is opening in earnest. Political affairs have assumed such a form that people can begin to see the way clearly. It is to be a straight old fight between the Republicans and Democrats, with greatly improved differences in favor of the Republicans.

The Democratic party is demoralized by attempting to steal the Republican platform, and Republicans for candidates. They are most welcome to take them, for it will kill their party. It introduces disgust and discord into the party, and though the par y may go through the form of running an opposition ticket, there will be no heart in it.

Where the contest is anything like even, it is unavailing for any partially disorganized party, like the present Democracy, to enter upon a national campaign against a harmonious and habitually victorious party, like the Republican party, moving in confidence, and representing a majority of the people. Very large and enthusiastic Grant and Wilson clubs are now forming everywhere. Iowa is in a blaze already, and Indiana is showing intense interest.

SOUND economy is a sound understanding brought into action; it is calculation realized; it is foreseeing contingencies, and providing against them, it is expecting contingencies and being prepared for them.

WEAKENING.

Every indication at present goes to show that the Greeley movement has spent its force, and that from now until election day it will continue to weaken and wane. A few weeks ago Democrats and "Liberals" were seemingly jubilant over what they alleged to be the certainty of Mr. Greeley's election. Upon the streets, in the railroad trains, in social gatherings, and indeed in every place where men congregate, Republicans had to listen to the loud boastings of the Greeleyites, who lost no opportunity of blowing their bugles in anticipation of victory. It may be that all this boasting was but a part of the general plan of the campaign, which was to be fought out on the principle that "a lie well stuck to is as good as the truth," but whether this was really the case, or whether the confident tone assumed by the Greeleyites actually had a well-founded hope at the bottom of it, certain it is that they have very materially lowered the pitch of their voices, and now sing a much more moderate tune.

A little thought will convince anyone that there is a very good reason for this change of tactics. After the Cincinnati Convention the "Liberals" admonished us to wait until the Republicans were convinced of the utter rottenness of their leaders by the action of the Philadelphia Convention. We were assured that legions of Republicans were only hanging on to the party with the hope that somebody else than Grant would be nominated at Philadelphia, and that these same legions would march over in a body to the Greeley ranks as soon as that convention was over. Well, Grant was nominated at Philadelphia, and there was still no perceptible addition to the "Liberal" party. Then we were told to wait until after the Baltimore Convention should indorse Greeley, which endorsment would convince dissatisfied Republicans that the Democrats were acting in good faith, and would be followed by the long prophesied ground swell. The Baltimore Convention met, performed its part of the contract entered into months before, and then adjourned, but the ground swell failed to make its appearance, and, worse than all, in its stead broke out a formidable rebellion in the Democratic ranks.—Everywhere through the country Democrats were found repudiating the disgraceful alliance which their leaders had entered into with the most unreliable and dangerous element of the Republican party. They spurned indignantly the idea that their party, in order to succeed, must abjectly get down in the dust and lick the feet of those who had for so many years been their chief revilers, and their discontent and dissatisfaction thereupon took on the shape of open revolt. Seeing the want of unanimity with which the nomination of Greeley was received by Democrats, vast numbers of Republicans who had tacitly given in their adherence to the "Liberal" movement began to realize the utter hopelessness of success, and willingly returned to their allegiance to the old party of freedom and progress.

Seeing all these things, as they cannot help but be seen, it is no wonder that the Greeleyites find their spinal columns becoming weak, and that they have ceased to boast of their expected victory as loudly as they did a month ago.

THE New York Commercial Advertiser says that somehow or other people who read the papers much get an idea that Horace Greeley is the Democratic candidate for presidency. This is a great mistake. The Horace Greeley who once figured conspicuously as the editor of the New York Tribune, expired last May. The undertakers preserved his old clothes and sent them to the Democratic national executive committee, who, in turn, sent them to a skillful taxidermist, by whom they were stuffed in a manner highly creditable to his art. In this shape they were adopted by the Baltimore convention and presented to the people as the veritable and original Greeley.

IN Iowa women hold office as notaries public; four are county superintendents of public schools and one is state librarian. Though not allowed to vote, the Iowa women can be voted for and be legal competitors with the other sex for any elective office. This is a step in advance of Illinois, where women can hold appointive but not elective offices.

DAN VOORHEES, the Greeley candidate for Congress, in his speech accepting the Democratic nomination, said the Fifteenth Amendment "was never legally ratified and is a fraud, in my individual judgment, upon the American people."

A BERLIN letter of the 29th ultimo says: The cholera is fast making its way from the interior of Russia to the Prussian frontier.

FROM NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, July 24.—The Tribune's special from Springfield, Mass., says college crews drew positions last night. Harvard won first choice. Positions are as follows: Amherst, next to eastern shore, Williams, second, Yale, third, Bowdoin, fourth, Harvard, fifth, Agricultural, sixth. The betting was wild and general, students staking the last dollar on their favorite crews. The city was crowded.

A Washington special to the Times says the President and Gen. Porter will probably remain in that city till Wednesday night, and then return to Long Branch. The President and family will go to Niagara Falls next week.

Dominick Roche, assemblyman and Henry Carr, commissioner of charities, both of Brooklyn, engaged in political discussion on the Hudson river, on their way from Albany to New York, yesterday. The parties quarreled, and Roche stabbed Carr with a pocket knife in the groin, inflicting a wound which may prove fatal. Carr's condition is considered critical.

The Herald's Washington special says it transpired yesterday that Senator Fowler, of Tennessee, and Senator Tipton, were also approached in the same manner as Schurz claims, on the San Domingo bill. There are other Senators, whose reputation for veracity have not been questioned, who, it is stated are likewise prepared to sustain the charge of Schurz.

NEW YORK, July 24.—The Herald's Washington dispatch says Sumner emphatically denies that he has written a letter to Gardner Brewer respecting his intention to support Greeley, and is equally emphatic in his denial of the statement by Prof. Langston that he has advised colored men to support Grant. He says no one is authorized to speak for him at all.

The State Department has not received word from Geneva, regarding the progress of arbitration. The statement that an award had been made in the case of the Florida is discredited.

The newspapers all comment on Conkling's speech at Cooper Institute last night. The Herald thinks the speech was unfortunate in so far as it failed to meet expectation on several points on which explanation of the position of the administration was expected, particularly our foreign policy and Southern affairs.

The Times considers the speech a full and complete reply to the charges brought against the administration and against Conkling personally.

The Tribune editorially says all the household Senators and newspapers of the President are laboring under that depression of speech which finds utterance in abusive language. The first campaign hardly shows a more violent exhibition of anger and apprehension than Conkling's tirade last night. It has two natural divisions—one-half a lyric expression of homage to the President, and the other a furious denunciation of his opponents and critics.

NEW YORK, July 24.—Senator Roscoe Conkling, in his great speech at Cooper Institute last evening, in reference to the charge of nepotism against the President, makes the following statement: That shrill and frisky reformer, Mr. Tipton, although not collossal himself, would need a hay scales to be weighed along with all his relatives he has helped to get office. Three brothers-in-law, nephew and son in office, with other things for other relatives, did not satisfy his liberal inclinations, but he vigorously plied the President and Secretary of State to give a valuable consulship to another son, and after they declined, he frequently avowed, once pipingly to the President himself, that his refusal was the cause of his opposition. It is true that since President Grant came in, but nine persons in all, connected in the remotest degree with him or with his wife, have held political office under the United States. Of the nine relatives or connections in office, two were appointed by Andrew Johnson, viz: the President's father, postmaster at Covington, Ky., and his brother-in-law, Rev. Mr. Cramer, consul at Leipsic. Deducting Jesse R. Grant and M. J. Cramer, appointed by Johnson, seven instances of relatives in political affairs remain, and of those but two were in truth and in fact appointed by the President.—Olander H. Ross, a cousin of the President, holds a clerkship under the Third Auditor of the Treasury. He was a soldier in the war, and General Logan, as he stated in the Senate, procured his appointment at the Treasury Department without the knowledge of the President, who, in fact, never heard of it until he read it in a morning paper. This leaves six, and of these four had local offices, viz: Geo. W. Dent, appraiser at San Francisco; Jas. Casey, collector at New Orleans; one brother and the other brother-in-law of Mrs. Grant. Peter Casey, postmaster at Vicksburg, Miss., a brother of a brother-in-law of Mrs. Grant, and Geo. B. Johnson, assessor of the Third District of Ohio, who married the third cousin of the President. Alexander Sharp, a connexion of Mrs. Grant, was appointed marshal of the District of Columbia, and Silas Hudson, a cousin of the President, Minister to Guatamala. As to the President's appointments being partisan, the speaker cited the cases of Adams, appointed arbitrator at Geneva, and Evarts, who was not his partisan, and Cushing and Curtis, political opponents, as counsel.

NEW YORK, July 23.—The speech of Carl Schurz at St. Louis was published here in full, but it was touched lightly by most of the papers in editorial comments. The Times makes no review of it. The Tribune praises it, and says it is an important speech, which will have great weight. The Herald says: Senator Schurz's speech displays a little too much personal bitterness toward the President to be as effective as it otherwise might have been. No person can read it without being impressed with the idea that his present position is taken, not that he hates Greeley less, but that he hates Grant more. The Evening Post says: Senator Schurz has proved himself deficient in one of the great requisites of leadership, that is in stability. His support of Mr. Greeley, whose nomination, as all the world knows, filled him with disgust, on the grounds on which he supports him, is one of those monstrosities of politics which Mr. Schurz's real friends hardly know whether to weep or laugh at.

Delegations of Democrats and Liberal Republicans arrived here this morning and said, unless they had fifty thousand dollars immediately, North Carolina would be lost. They have been already closeted with some of the New York politicians, but the result of the conference is not known. It is very doubtful if these demands are met, as there is no money here for the Greeley campaign and little prospect of it. Democratic capitalists appear reluctant to put out their cash, and some of them have repudiated promises made before the Baltimore convention.

The meeting at the Cooper Insttinte to-night was one of the largest ever held here. The crowd was quite as large as on the evening Schurz spoke, and some considered it larger. The hall, including platform and lobbys, was full. The promptness with which the crowd assembled, the hall being packed long before Senator Conklin made his appearance, and the energy with which they applauded every prominent name read from the list of Vice-Presidents or the happy hits of the speaker gave evidence of their unanimity. The meeting was, in every sense, orderly. The audience rapidly poured into the hall, and there were many ward clubs with banners. The lobby was filled during the evening with prominent politicians, including the Collector and a number of naval officers. Altogether the meeting was one which the originators and the speakers have every reason to be proud of. The organization was promptly and briefly effected with much better regard to time and patience than on most occasions of this sort. The preliminary speeches were happy in their brevity. The reading of the list of Vice-Presidents was frequently interspersed by proposals of three cheers and responded to with alacrity and energy but the reception of Senator Conklin was the most enthusiastic of the evening. The cheering was long and loud, and was frequently renewed, but between intervals of cheering the audience listened most attentively. It was nearly 11 o'clock when the meeting ended.

The testimony of Josephine Mansfield in the case of Judge Barnard, to-day, created considerable sensation, as it confirmed what had previously been stated about Barnard's intimacy with Fisk and Gould. Barnard's friends have generally abandoned the hope of saving him from impeachment and removal, but he says he will fight it out to the last, and not yield on any point Startling evidence is promised for to-morrow by the managers of the case, and it is hinted that they will show where much of the money of the Erie and other capitalists has gone.

New York, July 23.—The Herald's Washington telegram says that dipatches were sent from St. Louis last night to the President and members of the Cabinet requesting authoratative denial of Senator Schurz's assertion that he was approached with offers of patronage to support the San Domingo scheme, and that full authorized contradiction of the Senator's story is promised by the President's friends as soon as their present knowledge is reconfirmed by his arrival from Long Branch.

S. T. Streeter resigns from the Liberal Republican Committee and will support Grant.

Tom Murphy writes from Long Branch that he believes President Grant himself paid for his seaside cottage; that he (Murphy) didn't contribute anything towards it at any rate.

The Tribune denies the stories published in some Republican papers that Greeley ever conferred with Seymour relative to selecting any one for offices, that he never desired any one to get up meetings for him, or that he ever asked any body to try to get him nominated for the Presidency.

The official notification to Greeley of his nomination at Baltimore says: Laying the differences of the past, abandoning all purposes of mere partizan advantage, asking for no pledge other than that of fidelity to the principles to which they have given their deliberate and resolute adherence, and which they believe will command the approval of a majority of the American people, they tender you their nomination, confident that peace and good government will be inaugurated and maintained under your administration.

Mr. Greeley replies that it is especially noteworthy that many of the Democracy preferred that the Liberal Republicans should present another candidate, and would more readily have assisted in the support of Adams, Trumbull, Davis, or Brown; and that he owes his nomination to the impracticability of a concentration of forces on any new ticket. That the Democracy saw fit to re-affirm the Cincinnati platform is a source of profound satisfaction to him; some of the best years and best efforts of his life were devoted to the struggle against chattel slavery, and his vision unobscured by the hope that he should live to see the country peopled by men above the adoption of the Cincinnati platform is conclusive proof not merely of slavery abolished but its spirit extinct. Having done what he could for the complete emancipation of the blacks, he now insists on the full enfranchisement of his white countrymen.

ANOTHER case of nepotism, and an outraged world still rolls on! A Greeley organ, announcing the fact, says: "The relation is by way of Aaron Delano, whose aunt Susanna married Capt. Noah Grant, the great-grandfather of the president." "Aaron Delano," says the horror-stricken Detroit Post, "is brother-in-law of this nepotic postmaster." Thus the postmaster's brother-in-law's father's aunt married the President's great-grandfather. And this brother-in-law of a man whose father's aunt was step-mother to Grant's grandfather, holds a postoffice worth from $300 to $500 a year! Can such things be and the American people continue to suffer in stoic calmness?

THE New York Commercial, in speaking of Greeley's attendants, says: "Go where he will he is sure to be attended by men notorious as traitors, swindlers, and jobbers. Look in at his headquarters at the Glenham Hotel any day, and you will see scores of idlers there, who, if they had their dues, would be doing the state service at Auburn or Sing Sing. Well may the country be alarmed. If the character of the men who have Greeley's ear could only be brought home to our people, there would be fear and trembling in the land."

THE work of raising the Illinois Central railroad eight inches higher than its present level has reached Arcola. When this road is raised and filled with yellow limestone from Chicago to Cairo, as has been done on the portion just completed, it will be one of the best roads in the west, if not in the country.

GRANT AND WILSON CLUBS

The ground swell of the approaching elections this fall is beginning to be felt, and the campaign is opening in earnest. Political affairs have assumed such a form that people can begin to see the way clearly. It is to be a straight old fight between the Republicans and Democrats, with greatly improved differences in favor of the Republicans.

The Democratic party is demoralized by attempting to steal the Republican platform, and Republicans for candidates. They are most welcome to take them, for it will kill their party. It introduces disgust and discord into the party, and though the party may go through the form of running an opposition ticket, there will be no heart in it.

Where the contest is anything like even, it is unavailing for any partially disorganized party, like the present Democracy, to enter upon a national campaign against a harmonious and habitually victorious party, like the Republican party, moving in confidence, and representing a majority of the people. Very large and enthusiastic Grant and Wilson clubs are now forming everywhere. Iowa is in a blaze already, and Indiana is showing intense interest.

SOUND economy is a sound understanding brought into action; it is calculation realized; it is foreseeing contingencies, and providing against them; it is expecting contingencies and being prepared for them.

WEAKENING.

Every indication at present goes to show that the Greeley movement has spent its force, and that from now until election day it will continue to weaken and wane. A few weeks ago Democrats and "Liberals" were seemingly jubilant over what they alleged to be the certainty of Mr. Greeley's election. Upon the streets, in the railroad trains, in social gatherings, and indeed in every place where men congregate, Republicans had to listen to the loud boastings of the Greeleyites, who lost no opportunity of blowing their bugles in anticipation of victory. It may be that all this boasting was but a part of the general plan of the campaign, which was to be fought out on the principle that "a lie well stuck to is as good as the truth," but whether this was really the case, or whether the confident tone assumed by the Greeleyites actually had a well-founded hope at the bottom of it, certain it is that they have very materially lowered the pitch of their voices, and now sing a much more moderate tune.

A little thought will convince anyone that there is a very good reason for this change of tactics. After the Cincinnati Convention the "Liberals" admonished us to wait until the Republicans were convinced of the utter rottenness of their leaders by the action of the Philadelphia Convention. We were assured that legions of Republicans were only hanging on to the party with the hope that somebody else than Grant would be nominated at Philadelphia, and that these same legions would march over in a body to the Greeley ranks as soon as that convention was over. Well, Grant was nominated at Philadelphia, and there was still no perceptible addition to the "Liberal" party. Then we were told to wait until after the Baltimore Convention should indorse Greeley, which endorsment would convince dissatisfied Republicans that the Democrats were acting in good faith, and would be followed by the long prophesied ground swell. The Baltimore Convention met, performed its part of the contract entered into months before, and then adjourned, but the ground swell failed to make its appearance, and, worse than all, in its stead broke out a formidable rebellion in the Democratic ranks.—Everywhere through the country Democrats were found repudiating the disgraceful alliance which their leaders had entered into with the most unreliable and dangerous element of the Republican party. They spurned indignantly the idea that their party, in order to succeed, must abjectly get down in the dust and lick the feet of those who had for so many years been their chief revilers, and their discontent and dissatisfaction thereupon took on the shape of open revolt. Seeing the want of unanimity with which the nomination of Greeley was received by Democrats, vast numbers of Republicans who had tacitly given in their adherence to the "Liberal" movement began to realize the utter hopelessness of success, and willingly returned to their allegiance to the old party of freedom and progress.

Seeing all these things, as they cannot help but be seen, it is no wonder that the Greeleyites find their spinal columns becoming weak, and that they have ceased to boast of their expected victory as loudly as they did a month ago.

THE New York Commercial Advertiser says that somehow or other people who read the papers much get an idea that Horace Greeley is the Democratic candidate for presidency. This is a great mistake. The Horace Greeley who once figured conspicuously as the editor of the New York Tribune, expired last May. The undertakers preserved his old clothes and sent them to the Democratic national executive committee, who, in turn, sent them to a skillful taxidermist, by whom they were stuffed in a manner highly creditable to his art. In this shape they were adopted by the Baltimore convention and presented to the people as the veritable and original Greeley.

IN Iowa women hold office as notaries public; four are county superintendents of public schools and one is state librarian. Though not allowed to vote, the Iowa women can be voted for and be legal competitors with the other sex for any elective office. This is a step in advance of Illinois, where women can hold appointive but not elective offices.

DAN VOORHEES, the Greeley candidate for Congress, in his speech accepting the Democratic nomination, said the Fifteenth Amendment "was never legally ratified and is a fraud, in my individual judgment, upon the American people."

A BERLIN letter of the 29th ultimo says: The cholera is fast making its way from the interior of Russia to the Prussian frontier.

FROM NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, July 24.—The Tribune's special from Springfield, Mass., says college crews drew positions last night. Harvard won first choice. Positions are as follows: Amherst, next to eastern shore, Williams, second, Yale, third, Bowdoin, fourth, Harvard, fifth, Agricultural, sixth. The betting was wild and general, students staking the last dollar on their favorite crews. The city was crowded.

A Washington special to the Times says the President and Gen. Porter will probably remain in that city till Wednesday night, and then return to Long Branch. The President and family will go to Niagara Falls next week.

Dominick Roche, assemblyman and Henry Carr, commissioner of charities, both of Brooklyn, engaged in political discussion on the Hudson river, on their way from Albany to New York, yesterday. The parties quarreled, and Roche stabbed Carr with a pocket knife in the groin, inflicting a wound which may prove fatal. Carr's condition is considered critical.

The Herald's Washington special says it transpired yesterday that Senator Fowler, of Tennessee, and Senator Tipton, were also approached in the same manner as Schurz claims, on the San Domingo bill. There are other Senators, whose reputation for veracity have not been questioned, who, it is stated are likewise prepared to sustain the charge of Schurz.

NEW YORK, July 24.—The Herald's Washington dispatch says Sumner emphatically denies that he has written a letter to Gardner Brewer respecting his intention to support Greeley, and is equally emphatic in his denial of the statement by Prof. Langston that he has advised colored men to support Grant. He says no one is authorized to speak for him at all.

The State Department has not received word from Geneva, regarding the progress of arbitration. The statement that an award had been made in the case of the Florida is discredited.

The newspapers all comment on Conkling's speech at Cooper Institute last night. The Herald thinks the speech was unfortunate in so far as it failed to meet expectation on several points on which explanation of the position of the administration was expected, particularly our foreign policy and Southern affairs.

The Times considers the speech a full and complete reply to the charges brought against the administration and against Conkling personally.

The Tribune editorially says all the household Senators and newspapers of the President are laboring under that depression of speech which finds utterance in abusive language. The first campaign hardly shows a more violent exhibition of anger and apprehension than Conkling's tirade last night. It has two natural divisions—one-half a lyric expression of homage to the President, and the other a furious denunciation of his opponents and critics.

NEW YORK, July 24.—Senator Roscoe Conkling, in his great speech at Cooper Institute last evening, in reference to the charge of nepotism against the President, makes the following statement: That shrill and frisky reformer, Mr. Tipton, although not colossal himself, would need a hay scales to be weighed along with all his relatives he has helped to get office. Three brothers-in-law, nephew and son in office, with other things for other relatives, did not satisfy his liberal inclinations, but he vigorously plied the President and Secretary of State to give a valuable consul-ship to another son, and after they declined, he frequently avowed, once pipingly to the President himself, that his refusal was the cause of his opposition. It is true that since President Grant came in, but nine persons in all, connected in the remotest degree with him or with his wife, have held political office under the United States. Of the nine relatives or connections in office, two were appointed by Andrew Johnson, viz: the President's father, postmaster at Covington, Ky., and his brother-in-law, Rev. Mr. Cramer, consul at Leipsic. Deducting Jesse R. Grant and M. J. Cramer, appointed by Johnson, seven instances of relatives in political affairs remain, and of these but two were in truth and in fact appointed by the President.—Olander H. Ross, a cousin of the President, holds a clerkship under the Third Auditor of the Treasury. He was a soldier in the war, and General Logan, as he stated in the Senate, procured his appointment at the Treasury Department without the knowledge of the President, who, in fact, never heard of it until he read it in a morning paper. This leaves six, and of these four had local offices, viz: Geo. W. Dent, appraiser at San Francisco; Jas. Casey, collector at New Orleans; one brother and the other brother-in-law of Mrs. Grant. Peter Casey, postmaster at Vicksburg, Miss., a brother of a brother-in-law of Mrs. Grant, and Geo. B. Johnson, assessor of the Third District of Ohio, who married the third cousin of the President. Alexander Sharp, a connexion of Mrs. Grant, was appointed marshal of the District of Columbia, and Silas Hudson, a cousin of the President, Minister to Guatamala. As to the President's appointments being partisan, the speaker cited the cases of Adams, appointed arbitrator at Geneva, and Evarts, who was not his partisan, and Cushing and Curtis, political opponents, as counsel.

NEW YORK, July 23.—The speech of Carl Schurz at St. Louis was published here in full, but it was touched lightly by most of the papers in editorial comments. The Times makes no review of it. The Tribune praises it, and says it is an important speech, which will have great weight. The Herald says: Senator Schurz's speech displays a little too much personal bitterness toward the President to be as effective as it otherwise might have been. No person can read it without being impressed with the idea that his present position is taken, not that he hates Greeley less, but that he hates Grant more. The Evening Post says: Senator Schurz has proved himself deficient in one of the great requisites of leadership, that is in stability. His support of Mr. Greeley, whose nomination, as all the world knows, filled him with disgust, on the grounds on which he supports him, is one of those monstrosities of politics which Mr. Schurz's real friends hardly know whether to weep or laugh at.

Delegations of Democrats and Liberal Republicans arrived here this morning and said, unless they had fifty thousand dollars immediately, North Carolina would be lost. They have been already closeted with some of the New York politicians, but the result of the conference is not known. It is very doubtful if these demands are met, as there is no money here for the Greeley campaign and little prospect of it. Democratic capitalists appear reluctant to put out their cash, and some of them have repudiated promises made before the Baltimore convention.

The meeting at the Cooper Institute to-night was one of the largest ever held here. The crowd was quite as large as on the evening Schurz spoke, and some considered it larger. The hall, including platform and lobbys, was full. The promptness with which the crowd assembled, the hall being packed long before Senator Conklin made his appearance, and the energy with which they applauded every prominent name read from the list of Vice-Presidents or the happy hits of the speaker gave evidence of their unanimity. The meeting was, in every house, orderly. The audience rapidly poured into the hall, and there were many ward clubs with banners. The lobby was filled during the evening with prominent politicians, including the Collector and a number of naval officers. Altogether the meeting was one which the originators and the speakers have every reason to be proud of. The organization was promptly and briefly effected with much better regard to time and patience than on most occasions of this sort. The preliminary speeches were happy in their brevity. The reading of the list of Vice-Presidents was frequently interspersed by proposals of three cheers and responded to with alacrity and energy but the reception of Senator Conklin was the most enthusiastic of the evening. The cheering was long and loud, and was frequently renewed, but between intervals of cheering the audience listened most attentively. It was nearly 11 o'clock when the meeting ended.

The testimony of Josephine Mansfield in the case of Judge Barnard, to-day, created considerable sensation, as it confirmed what had previously been stated about Barnard's intimacy with Fisk and Gould. Barnard's friends have generally abandoned the hope of saving him from impeachment and removal, but he says he will fight it out to the last, and not yield on any point Startling evidence is promised for to-morrow by the managers of the case, and it is hinted that they will show where much of the money of the Erie and other capitalists has gone.

New York, July 23.—The Herald's Washington telegram says that dipatches were sent from St. Louis last night to the President and members of the Cabinet requesting authoratative denial of Senator Schurz's assertion that he was approached with offers of patronage to support the San Domingo scheme, and that full authorized contradiction of the Senator's story is promised by the President's friends as soon as their present knowledge is reconfirmed by his arrival from Long Branch.

S. T. Streeter resigns from the Liberal Republican Committee and will support Grant.

Tom Murphy writes from Long Branch that he believes President Grant himself paid for his seaside cottage; that he (Murphy) didn't contribute anything toward it at any rate.

The Tribune denies the stories published in some Republican papers that Greeley ever conferred with Seymour relative to selecting any one for offices, that he never desired any one to get up meetings for him, or that he ever asked any body to try to get him nominated for the Presidency.

The official notification to Greeley of his nomination at Baltimore says: Laying the differences of the past, abandoning all purposes of mere partizan advantage, asking for no pledge other than that of fidelity to the principles to which they have given their deliberate and resolute adherence, and which they believe will command the approval of a majority of the American people, they tender you their nomination, confident that peace and good government will be inaugurated and maintained under your administration.

Mr. Greeley replies that it is especially noteworthy that many of the Democracy preferred that the Liberal Republicans should present another candidate, and would more readily have assisted in the support of Adams, Trumbull, Davis, or Brown; and that he owes his nomination to the impracticability of a concentration of forces on any new ticket. That the Democracy saw fit to re-affirm the Cincinnati platform is a source of profound satisfaction to him; some of the best years and best efforts of his life were devoted to the struggle against chattel slavery, and his vision unobscured by the hope that he should live to see the country peopled by men above the adoption of the Cincinnati platform is conclusive proof not merely of slavery abolished but its spirit extinct. Having done what he could for the complete emancipation of the blacks, he now insists on the full enfranchisement of his white countrymen.

ANOTHER case of nepotism, and an outraged world still rolls on! A Greeley organ, announcing the fact, says: "The relation is by way of Aaron Delano, whose aunt Susanna married Capt. Noah Grant, the great-grandfather of the president." "Aaron Delano," says the horror-stricken Detroit Post, "is brother-in-law of this nepotic postmaster." Thus the postmaster's brother-in-law's father's aunt married the President's great-grandfather. And this brother-in-law of a man whose father's aunt was step-mother to Grant's grandfather, holds a postoffice worth from $300 to $500 a year! Can such things be and the American people continue to suffer in stoic calmness?

THE New York Commercial, in speaking of Greeley's attendants, says: "Go where he will he is sure to be attended by men notorious as traitors, swindlers, and jobbers. Look in at his headquarters at the Glenham Hotel any day, and you will see scores of idlers there, who, if they had their dues, would be doing the state service at Auburn or Sing Sing. THE work of raising the Illinois Central railroad eight inches higher than its present level has reached Arcola. When this road is raised and filled with yellow limestone from Chicago to Cairo, as has been done on the portion just completed, it will be one of the best roads in the west, if not in the country.

CITY DEPARTMENT.

...Mr. J. J. Jones will please accept our thanks for late Colorado papers.

...Hackett & Keeff opened out in full blast yesterday, and their old friends came and "saw" them.

...Business at court draws many people to town, and of course business in town improves accordingly.

...A good deal of interest is manifested in the trial of Archibald Walton as an accomplice of Forrest in the murder of Musselman at Oakley. His trial comes on tomorrow.

...Somebody who was moving this morning had the misfortune to upset part of the load near the Baptist church. There was rattling of crockery, but there was not much of it broken.

...The preliminary examination of Dr. J. M. Burch, James Bennett and Jordan R. Cox, charged with the killing of George W. Kendall, at Illiopolis, on the night of the 13th inst., began before Esq. Keedy, at Springfield yesterday.

...If you want good bread, cakes, buns, etc., patronize Mrs. E. H. Mills' bakery, Opera House block. We speak from experience when we say that the bread, etc., made at her establishment is unsurpassed—in fact, just as good as that baked at home, which is the highest praise we can bestow upon it.

...The Chicago Evening Journal calls Gov. Oglesby "The Orator of the Day," and, in an editorial of some length, directs attention to the plainness and simplicity of the language used by our distinguished fellow-citizen. In a paragraph containing forty-nine words, taken from his late speech in Chicago, only seven words of more than one syllable occur, and of those seven there is but one which contains more than two syllables.

FROM CERRO GORDO.

CERRO GORDO, ILL., July 23, 1872.

MESSRS. EDITORS: On Friday last, while two boys, named McCawley and Morrison, the first ten and the other nine years old, were at play near this place, some disturbance took place between them. Young Morrison ran away from McCawley, who ran after him, caught him, and with his knife, cut little Morrison's throat for three or four inches. Dr. W. L. Reed was called in, who dressed the wound, and when last heard from he was doing well and hopes were entertained of his recovery.

The Greeleyites here are thin soup with us. There are but two of that stock here—Dr. Corndodger and Mr. Reddy. The one wants the post office and Reddy wants to be Minister to Buck Creek, Ind.

There was a vote taken on board the train to-day while running from Bement to this place. Result—Grant 28, Greeley 7.

Yours, &c., PETER FUNK.

A Great Improvement.—Our city fathers have purchased and put up a number of Tully's street lamps, in portions of the city not reached by the gas mains.—This lamp has been fully tested, and has proven to be all that is desired for street purposes, and we trust that more of them may be put up in our city. The inhabitants of the fourth ward, who have heretofore been compelled to grope their way home in darkness, feel indebted to Alderman Richards, through whose efforts several of the new lamps have been put up in that portion of the city.

A Straw.—Upon the train coming into Danville, Ill., on July 21st, was a young gent who was very enthusiastic for Greeley, and after discussing the qualities of each candidate, as a clincher, offered to bet a Grant man that there were more Greeley than Grant men in that car. The bet was accepted and the vote taken, resulting in 13 for Grant and 4 for Greeley. L. W.

Unsatisfactory Applause.—The story is told that a young lover in our city, who played and sang before his sweetheart's house for two hours on one of these hot nights, was electrified after a short rest by a cordial "thank you," gracefully pronounced by the "other fellow," who appeared at the window.

A LITTLE RIGHTEOUS INDIGNATION.

EDITORS REPUBLICAN: On June 6th, 1872, the Chicago Tribune published an editorial headed "Greeley and Grant," which for a libel and an insult to the loyal soldiers and people of the whole country is unparalelled in the history of journalism, for its barefaced falsehoods, malignancy and misrepresentation. Never before did Horace White so completely outrage decency, truth and virtue, or crawl so deep into the bitterness of his soured nature in writing an article for his double-faced paper. Even during the time he was trying to boost the patron saint, Long John Wentworth, into Congress, some two years ago, did he lie half so well for John as he has falsified and maligned the President and his administration. He laughs and ridicules with contempt the idea of Gen. Grant's being only a tanner, "earning a few hundred dollars a year" and working his way up to the Presidency. Thus this would-be leader in what Jeff Davis calls "the great political reform movement," scoffs at the idea of a poor and industrious boy of this country attempting to hold his head above the level of poverty and want into which by fate he has been brought forth. How will such language as this toward General Grant, because he was once a poor tanner, go down the throats of the toiling thousands of Illinois and all over the country? Are the children of the poor, yet honest people of the United States, to be told, You must remain in poverty and ignorance; that the fact that Washington, Lincoln and Grant worked their way up from poverty to the Presidency was only a disgrace to Horace White and Jeff Davis. Horace Greeley said a short time since that the reason our Presidents had been elected to a second term was because they made use of the patronage of their office for that purpose; thus virtually charging Washington and Lincoln with corruption. O, you defender of Tammany, pluck the beam out of thine own eye before you defame the sainted dead. How many orphans and widows to-day are mourning the loss of a father or husband on account of the hopes held out by H. G. in his advocacy of secession to the Southern rebels.

Horace White says: "In 1861, war having broken out, the graduate of West Point abandoned the civil life for which he was unfit and joined the army." May I not ask every Republican, every Democrat, every Liberal Republican and every rebel in the land, what in the name of Heaven had General Grant done up to this date that he was not fit to live in civil life?—Now how beautifully this reads, coming from the Chicago Tribune, when from the time General Grant left his humble home in Galena, 1861, all along from day to day, from week to week, from month to month, and from year to year, until last fall, this same Tribune was extolling Grant for his purity of character, for his exalted genius and his determined honesty in the administration of the Government. Let the Democrats and Liberals, who to day are such warm friends of the Tribune, turn back to its columns and see if this is not so. All this divine sheet and these pure Liberals are cursing General Grant for, transpired long before they commenced their slander and misrepresentation of his character and administration. If these are facts is it to be believed that this "Liberal" movement was conceived in holiness and has been delivered through righteousness for the purification of politics and for a better administration? No, sir! not one man in a thousand believes any such thing.

Probably the majority of the Democratic party will support Mr. Greeley solely with a view to beat the Republican candidate, General Grant, but the "Liberals," like Horace White, Lyman Trumbull, Governor Palmer and others, have sour grapes in their composition, and do not like Grant because he is President, and will not be dictated to by them. Again, Horace White says, "During the war Horace Greeley made patriots and enlisted troops. Grant led them to death or victory. Greeley, with his pen, called volunteers from the hillside and the vale; Grant planted them in the Wilderness, on the James, and before Petersburg." Messrs. Editors, how will the friends of the soldier, who have lost sons, brothers and husbands under Grant, like the traitorous sneer of the Tribune—"planted by Grant?" Again this vile sheet says: "With a well-organized militia we can all face Washington at shoulder arms. Then let the banks, the capitalists and the chaps who would have any kind of government so they can get their dividends, look out." What does Horace White mean? Is this the old rebel defiance which was so rife and popular during the days of the old imbecile, Buchanan? If so, let it come, and a second attempt will put them where they will forever cease to defame the character of General Grant, and to cheer for Jeff Davis and Horace Greeley. A REPUBLICAN.

The International Peace Jubilee—Pianos.—BOSTON, June 18.—History, perhaps, furnishes nothing equal to the awful and sublime grandeur of this musical festival. It can only be spoken of in general terms, as the strongest words can only furnish the faintest possible realization of it. The grand organ was the leading instrument of power. But we noticed that the superb Hallett & Davis Piano was the leading instrument of the kind, of sweetness and power, as handled by such an artist as Franz Bendel, being easily heard in the midst of the grand orchestral accompaniment in every part of the vast building. This was so in piano as well as fortissimo tones.—Special Dispatch to the Chicago Daily News.

Same vs. Emily C. Riley—Same. Dismissed.

This morning, after hearing and deciding several motions, the case of The People vs. Archibald Walton was called. Witnesses were called and answered to their names. Then the jurors were called, and out of the whole panel, only two were accepted, namely, John Tibbetts and Wm. M. Clements. The Judge then directed the Sheriff to summon twenty-four more men to serve as jurors. Of the second twenty-four, the counsel on both sides examined eighteen, of which number none were received. The Judge then directed the Sheriff to summon fifty more, when the court adjourned until half past one o'clock.

The following gentlemen were impanneled as the petit jurors for the term, on Monday afternoon:

Henry Abbott,	Benjamin Dill
Jacob R Price,	Paul Noble,
Chas. Zeigler,	Edmund Walton,
Robert Johnson,	H Housman,
Jesse Lockhart,	Fred. C Kitch,

FOR CASH!

From and after this date we will sell goods for cash and cash only. We have adopted this system because we desire to save our customers from five to eight per cent. on what they buy.

We have reduced the prices on our goods to a point which will enable any practical person to see the benefits derived from the cash system. Give us a trial.

July 10-tf J. ULLRICH & CO.

Liquor Case.—Dr. C. A. Holbrook, of Warrensburg, was arrested a few days since, on a charge of selling liquor to a man who was in the habit of becoming intoxicated, and also on a charge of selling to a minor. He was tried before M. K. Hatch, Esq., on Monday afternoon. On the first charge he was found guilty and fined $20 and costs, and on the other charge he was acquitted. He paid the fine.

A Bad Spell.—Somebody who evidently admires "the great and good Horace," invaded our office yesterday, during our absence, and scrawled his sentiments on a sheet of blank paper which lay upon the table, as follows: "Hurray for Greelie and Broun."

CITY DEPARTMENT.

...Mr. J. J. Jones will please accept our thanks for late Colorado papers.

...Hackett & Keeff opened out in full blast yesterday, and their old friends came and "saw" them.

...Business at court draws many people to town, and of course business in town improves accordingly.

...A good deal of interest is manifested in the trial of Archibald Walton as an accomplice of Forrest in the murder of Mussellman at Oakley. His trial comes on to-morrow.

...Somebody who was moving this morning had the misfortune to upset part of the load near the Baptist church. There was rattling of crockery, but there was not much of it broken.

...The preliminary examination of Dr. J. M. Burch, James Bennett and Jordan R. Cox, charged with the killing of George W. Kendall, at Illiopolis, on the night of the 13th inst., began before Esq. Keedy, at Springfield yesterday.

...If you want good bread, cakes, buns, etc., patronize Mrs. E. H. Mills' bakery, Opera House block. We speak from experience when we say that the bread, etc, made at her establishment is unsurpassed—in fact, just as good as that baked at home, which is the highest praise we can bestow upon it.

...The Chicago Evening Journal calls Gov. Oglesby "The Orator of the Day," and, in an editorial of some length, directs attention to the plainness and simplicity of the language used by our distinguished fellow-citizen. In a paragraph containing forty-nine words, taken from his late speech in Chicago, only seven words of more than one syllable occur, and of those seven there is but one which contains more than two syllables.

FROM CERRO GORDO.

CERRO GORDO, ILL., July 23, 1872.

MESSRS. EDITORS: On Friday last, while two boys, named McCawley and Morrison, the first ten and the other nine years old, were at play near this place, some disturbance took place between them. Young Morrison ran away from McCawley, who ran after him, caught him, and with his knife, cut little Morrison's throat for three or four inches. Dr. W. L. Reed was called in, who dressed the wound, and when last heard from he was doing well and hopes were entertained of his recovery.

The Greeleyites here are thin soup with us. There are but two of that stock here—Dr. Corndodger and Mr. Reddy. The one wants the post office and Reddy wants to be Minister to Buck Creek, Ind.

There was a vote taken on board the train to-day while running from Bement to this place. Result—Grant 28, Greeley 7.

Yours, &c., PETER FUNK.

A Great Improvement.—Our city fathers have purchased and put up a number of Tully's street lamps, in portions of the city not reached by the gas mains.—This lamp has been fully tested, and has proven to be all that is desired for street purposes, and we trust that more of them may be put up in our city. The inhabitants of the fourth ward, who have heretofore been compelled to grope their way home in darkness, feel indebted to Alderman Richards, through whose efforts several of the new lamps have been put up in that portion of the city.

A Straw.—Upon the train coming into Danville, Ill., on July 21st, was a young gent who was very enthusiastic for Greeley, and after discussing the qualities of each candidate, as a clincher, offered to bet a Grant man that there were more Greeley than Grant men in that car. The bet was accepted and the vote taken, resulting in 18 for Grant and 4 for Greeley. L. W.

Unsatisfactory Applause.—The story is told that a young lover in our city, who played and sang before his sweetheart's house for two hours on one of these hot nights, was electrified after a short rest by a cordial "thank you," gracefully pronounced by the "other fellow," who appeared at the window.

A LITTLE RIGHTEOUS INDIGNATION.

EDITORS REPUBLICAN: On June 6th, 1872, the Chicago Tribune published an editorial headed "Greeley and Grant," which for a libel and an insult to the loyal soldiers and people of the whole country is unparalelled in the history of journalism, for its barefaced falsehoods, malignancy and misrepresentation. Never before did Horace White so completely outrage decency, truth and virtue, or crawl so deep into the bitterness of his soured nature in writing an article for his double-faced paper. Even during the time he was trying to boost the patron saint, Long John Wentworth, into Congress, some two years ago, did he do half so well for John as he has falsified and maligned the President and his administration. He laughs and ridicules with contempt the idea of Gen. Grant's being only a tanner, "earning a few hundred dollars a year" and working his way up to the Presidency. Thus this would-be leader in what Jeff Davis calls "the great political reform movement," scoffs at the idea of a poor and industrious boy of this country attempting to hold his head above the level of poverty and want into which by fate he has been brought forth. How will such language as this toward General Grant, because he was once a poor tanner, go down the throats of the toiling thousands of Illinois and all over the country? Are the children of the poor, yet honest people of the United States, to be told, You must remain in poverty and ignorance; that the fact that Washington, Lincoln and Grant worked their way up from poverty to the Presidency was only a disgrace to Horace White and Jeff Davis. Horace Greeley said a short time since that the reason our Presidents had been elected to a second term was because they made use of the patronage of their office for that purpose; thus virtually charging Washington and Lincoln with corruption. O, you defender of Tammany, pluck the beam out of thine own eye before you defame the sainted dead. How many orphans and widows to-day are mourning the loss of a father or husband on account of the hopes held out by H. G. in his advocacy of secession to the Southern rebels.

Horace White says: "In 1861, war having broken out, the graduate of West Point abandoned the civil life for which he was unfit and joined the army." May I not ask every Republican, every Democrat, every Liberal Republican and every rebel in the land, what in the name of Heaven had General Grant done up to this date that he was not fit to live in civil life?—Now how beautifully this reads, coming from the Chicago Tribune, when from the time General Grant left his humble home in Galena, 1861, all along from day to day, from week to week, from month to month, and from year to year, until last fall, this same Tribune was extolling Grant for his purity of character, for his exalted genius and his determined honesty in the administration of the Government. Let the Democrats and Liberals, who to-day are such warm friends of the Tribune, turn back to its columns and see if this is not so. All this divine sheet and these pure Liberals are cursing General Grant for, transpired long before they commenced their slander and misrepresentation of his character and administration. If these are facts is it to be believed that this "Liberal" movement was conceived in holiness and has been delivered through righteousness for the purification of politics and for a better administration? No, sir! not one man in a thousand believes any such thing.

Probably the majority of the Democratic party will support Mr. Greeley solely with a view to beat the Republican candidate, General Grant, but the "Liberals," like Horace White, Lyman Trumbull, Governor Palmer and others, have sour grapes in their composition, and do not like Grant because he is President, and will not be dictated to by them. Again, Horace White says, "During the war Horace Greeley made patriots and enlisted troops. Grant led them to death or victory. Greeley, with his pen, called volunteers from the hillside and the vale; Grant planted them in the Wilderness, on the James, and before Petersburg." Messrs. Editors, how will the friends of the soldier, who have lost sons, brothers and husbands under Grant, like the traitorous sneer of the Tribune—"planted by Grant?" Again this vile sheet says: "With a well-organized militia we can all face Washington at shoulder arms. Then let the banks, the capitalists and the chaps who would have any kind of government so they can get their dividends, look out." What does Horace White mean? Is this the old rebel defiance which was so rife and popular during the days of the old imbecile, Buchanan? If so, let it come, and a second attempt will put them where they will forever cease to defame the character of General Grant, and to cheer for Jeff Davis and Horace Greeley. A REPUBLICAN.

The International Peace Jubilee—Pianos.—BOSTON, June 18.—History, perhaps, furnishes nothing equal to the awful and sublime grandeur of this musical festival. It can only be spoken of in general terms, as the strongest words can only furnish the faintest possible realization of it. The grand organ was the leading instrument of power. But we noticed that the superb Hallett & Davis Piano was the leading instrument of the kind, of sweetness and power, as handled by such an artist as Franz Bendel, being easily heard in the midst of the grand orchestral accompaniment in every part of the vast building. This was so in piano as well as fortissimo tones.—Special Dispatch to the Chicago Daily News.

This morning, after hearing and deciding several motions, the case of The People vs. Archibald Walton was called. Witnesses were called and answered to their names. Then the jurors were called, and out of the whole panel, only two were accepted, namely, John Tibbetts and Wm. M. Clements. The Judge then directed the Sheriff to summon twenty-four more men to serve as jurors. Of the second twenty-four, the counsel on both sides examined eighteen, of which number none were received. The Judge then directed the Sheriff to summon fifty more, when the court adjourned until half past one o'clock.

The following gentlemen were impanneled as the petit jurors for the term, on Monday afternoon:

Henry Abbott,	Benjamin Dill
Jacob R Price,	Paul Noble,
Chas. Zeigler,	Edmund Walton,
Robert Johnson,	H Housman,
Jesse Lockhart,	Fred. C Kitch,

FOR CASH!

From and after this date we will sell goods for cash and cash only. We have adopted this system because we desire to save our customers from five to eight per cent. on what they buy.

We have reduced the prices on our goods to a point which will enable any practical person to see the benefits derived from the cash system. Give us a trial.

Liquor Case.—Dr. C. A. Holbrook, of Warrensburg, was arrested a few days since, on a charge of selling liquor to a man who was in the habit of becoming intoxicated, and also on a charge of selling to a minor. He was tried before M. K. Hatch, Esq., on Monday afternoon. On the first charge he was found guilty and fined $20 and costs, and on the other charge he was acquitted. He paid the fine.

A Bad Spell.—Somebody who evidently admires "the great and good Horace," invaded our office yesterday, during our absence, and scrawled his sentiments on a sheet of blank paper which lay upon the table, as follows: "Hurray for Greelle and Broun."
